Mrs. Mary Dewar Passed Away Wednesday Morning

Mrs. Mary Hannah Dewar, highly esteemed Coleman old timer, passed away in the Crownest Pass Municipal Hospital this morning following a brief period of ill health.

Mrs. Dewar, 79 years of age was born in Nanthead, Cumberland, England, on January 27th, 1881. She came to Canada about 1908 settling in Michel, B.C. for a very short time before moving to Coleman where she has resided until the time of her death.

She was a member of the Minerva Chapter No. 41, O.E.S., of a local bridge club and was a member of St. Paul's United Church of which she had been a faithful worker for over 50 years.

Mrs. Dewar was predeceased by her husband, Alexander in Coleman in 1956 and by one son Robert in Coleman in 1930. She is survived by one daughter Evelyn, Mrs. Robert Donaldson of Cranbrook, B.C. one grandson and a sister in England.

Funeral services will be conducted from St. Paul's United Church in Coleman on Friday, April 29, at 3 p.m. and interment will be made in the Coleman Union Cemetery. Reverend Rod MacAulay will officiate.

Quadruplet Goats Born in Coleman

Peter and Patricia Stoochnoff weren't kidding when they ran into their parents' home two weeks ago and announced that their nanny goat "Peggy" had given birth to quadruplet kids.

Patricia and Peter bottle feed the kids their morning meal which does not take more than a few minutes for the healthy young goats to go through one and a half bottles each. The four young female goats and their mother are in excellent health and are all pure white. The young are now over two and a half weeks old.

The goats are bottle fed twice daily and this method of feeding is used as William Stoochnoff, owner of the goats, states that it is easier on the mother and also that in this manner all the young are fed.

The nanny goat supplies all the milk for her young.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoochnoff imported the nanny goat from Edgewood, B.C., in the Lower Arrow Lakes district a few years ago. The goat is a purebred all white Saanen goat and prior to having quadruplets, the nanny on two occasions before gave birth to triplets, all of which lived.

Besides the nanny and her four kids, Mr. and Mrs. Stoochnoff have seven other goats from which they get about one gallon of milk per day which is used for table purposes the year round.

According to reports births of quadruplets and triplets in goats is unusual, although many goats do have twins.

Alberta has joined other Canadian provinces in accepting a plan for uniform traffic control devices prepared by a special committee of federal, provincial and civic government officials, representatives of the Canadian Good Roads Association, the Institute of Traffic Engineers, Canadian Automobile Association and other national groups.

Motorists travelling in any part of Canada will now be able to easily recognize the meaning of any road sign which may be the same throughout Canada.

The special committee standardized road signs with regard to shape, color, dimensions, symbols, wording (lettering and illumination) or reflectorization.

The types of signs used across the nation were classified into three general groups. Regulatory signs give the highway user notice of traffic regulations, with a few exceptions these are rectangular with the longer dimension vertical. They are usually white with black, green or red lettering and border. Exceptions in shape and color are the red octagon 'stop' sign, yellow inverted-triangle 'yield' sign, and one-way sign and 'night speed' sign.

Warning signs which call attention to conditions that are potentially hazardous to traffic operations are generally diamond shaped. They have a yellow background with black lettering or symbols. General exceptions are advance railway signs which are circular and the railway crosswalk sign.

Guide signs used to show route designations, directions, distances, points of interest or other geographical or cultural information are green with white symbols or lettering. They are rectangular in shape with the longer dimension horizontal. Provincial route markers can be white with black lettering.

Major change in Alberta will involve the use of more symbol signs to mark schools, playgrounds and pedestrian crossings. The Uniform Traffic Control Devices committee recommended that a new and distinctive shape and color be used for advance warning of a school, crosswalk or school speed zone. The selected sign is a pentagon-shaped school house which bears a symbol of two children in white on a blue background. The sign is being used on Alberta highways approximately 1,000 feet before the beginning of a regularly marked school speed zone.

Robert C. Letcher Passes April 19 at C. N. P. Hospital

Robert Charles Letcher, Hillcrest old-timer, died in the Crowns Nest Pass Municipal Hospital on Tuesday evening, April 19, following a two-month period of ill health.

Mr. Letcher, 84 years of age, was born in Westport, Nova Scotia, in July, 1876. He came west in 1911 and settled in Bankhead, where he worked in the mines there for four years before moving to Mountain Park in 1915 where he resumed his mining occupation.

In 1919 Mr. Letcher moved to the now ghost town of Brule and worked in the coal mines there before coming to Hillcrest in 1924 where he resided until the time of his death.

While at Hillcrest Mr. Letcher worked as a miner in the old Hillcrest mine and then at the Bellevue mine of the West Canadian Collieries until the middle 1940's when he retired from work.

During his youth he served with the Canadian Army in Eastern Canada for a short time. He was a former member of the Hillcrest Miners' Club and of the Bellevue Local of the United Mine Workers of America. He was of the Anglican Faith.

He was predeceased by a daughter Mrs. S. (Alberta) Hawkins at Hillcrest in 1946, and by his wife Olive at Hillcrest in 1948.

He is survived by seven sons — Cliff and Harold of Hillcrest, Leo and Rod of Trail, B.C.; Percy of Kamloops, B.C.; Herbert of Princeton, B.C.; and Robert at Coalmont, B.C.; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, and one brother Jack Letcher of Edmonton.

Coleman Board of Trade Discuss Annual Rodeo

Coleman Board of Trade met on Thursday evening last week, when Roy Upton was elected as president of the Board for the coming term. To assist President Upton, Ed Howard was appointed secretary and Oratio Celli as treasurer.

A board of directors will be appointed. Main item on the agenda was the sponsorship of the 15th annual Coleman Rodeo and due to lack of interest the Board decided against sponsoring the rodeo this summer.

The Board have drawn up letters to be sent to various organizations in town asking the organization if they would be interested in taking over the rodeo or if the organizations would like to form one body to sponsor the annual affair.

Answers must be returned to the Board of Trade by May 2nd, and if enough interest is shown an immediate meeting will be called to form plans for the rodeo.

Books Dedicated At Concert

A well attended concert and dedication service was held in the Coleman main school auditorium Friday, April 8. The dedication was conducted by Steve Mraz, present chairman of the school board and the books are to be placed in the school for the use of the high school students.

Following the service a well enjoyed variety concert was presented with three one-act plays being featured.

The plays were conducted by Principal Horace Allen, Mrs. L. Graham and Steve Ondrus.

At the conclusion of the concert coffee and doughnuts were served by Mrs. Nora Goulding, assisted by the teachers.

Blood Donors Gather 186 Bottle of Blood

The spring Red Cross Blood Donors Clinic was held in the Elks hall in Blairmore on Wednesday, April 13 in the afternoon and evening, and a total of 186 bottles of blood was collected.

A quota of 225 bottles had been aimed for but due to the many cases of 'flu' in the Pass towns at the present time many of the local donors were unable to attend.

The Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service and Mrs. Anna Fabbro, local campaign chairman, have expressed thanks to the Ladies' Auxiliary to the hospital, the Lions Club, the Elks, the Order of the Royal Purple, the Crowns Nest Chapter of the AARN, Mrs. Joan Dunford and her assistants from Coleman, and all ladies and organizations that assisted with the Clinic in any way.

form plans for the rodeo.

It was suggested at the meeting that if enough local interest is not shown that possibly some other sources might be contacted such as organizations that stage rodeos with a view to turning the Coleman rodeo over to such a group.

Due to the extreme lack of interest shown by residents in the Board of Trade, a membership committee was appointed to try to increase membership and revive the interest shown in previous years with the committee will comprise the chairman, Dr. Emil Aiello, assisted by Mayor Frank Abousafy, Frank Graham, John Salus and Oratio Celli.

The committee will report back at an executive meeting to be held on May 17th. The next supper meeting will be held on May 26th when all interested ladies and men are invited to attend.

Two neighboring Coleman frame homes were razed to the ground last week and damage is estimated to be in the vicinity of $6,000 for both buildings and contents. Some insurance was carried.

The fire broke out in the Andy Olezowski home while Mr. and Mrs. Olezowski and son were visiting in Michel. The home immediately east owned by B. Bell, was unoccupied.

OF MANY THINGS (by Ambrose Hills)

CBC's announcement that it intends to put up a television station in Edmonton has created quite a flurry of criticism from northern Manitoba.

Manitobans claim that CBC, because it is financed by taxpayers, ought to concentrate on areas which are not now getting programs. CBC has taken considerable money from northern Manitoba over these many years. Manitobans have received little or nothing in return. Edmonton, on the other hand, already gets just about all the CBC programs produced.

Manitobans have the further complaint that Edmonton would get additional service from private television stations whether or not CBC put one up; there is no shortage of applicants for the TV franchise there. And it is felt that Edmontonians would rather have another private station than a CBC one because they are already seeing these government sponsored shows and would like a change of pace.

If this controversy had transpired a few years ago, the final decision on the matter would no doubt have been taken, after some consideration, by the CBC itself. Today, however, CBC is not free to put up transmitters whenever and wherever it wants. CBC must appear before the Board of Broadcast Governors and make a case for such a transmitter in public. No doubt it will have an edge over other applicants, because government boards tend to favour one another rather than outsiders. However, the BBG would hesitate, one would think, to make decisions likely to arouse the public. If Edmonton doesn't want a CBC station badly, and if northern Manitoba protests loudly enough, the board might well decide to select a private applicant to serve Edmonton.

CBC, therefore, must put up quite a case. To date, their argument seems to be that they want to "interpret" bustling Edmonton to the rest of Canada. I suppose that argument might sound persuasive to those who haven't undergone CBC's "interpretation" in the past. Have they noted how CBC's TV station in Winnipeg "interprets" us to the rest of Canada? You'd think we were a town addicted to night-clubbing and corny vaudeville to judge us by CBC's productions. Have they noted, in Edmonton, the way CBC "interprets" Toronto to the rest of Canada? It's apparently a city fraught with psychological problems, where bosses perform like Dickensian monsters, liquor and brutality abound, and CBC tries to leaven the morbid mess with lovely dancing boys and girls.

It would be most interesting to see how Edmonton would fare under the interpretive eyes of those CBC cameras. It might be fun for the rest of us but I doubt whether Edmonton would like it!

Parking Lights Not For Driving

Besides being highly dangerous, it is illegal in most of Canada to drive a car on the highway with only parking lights on when visibility is restricted. The Canadian Highway Safety Council warns that provincial traffic regulations prohibit the operation of a vehicle which cannot be clearly seen at least 500 feet away. The Council urges all motorists to use headlights when driving after dusk or in blizzards, fog, sleet storms and heavy downpours of rain.

"Anyone who drove the streets and roads during some of the winter storms," said the Council, "can recall the difficulty in seeing other vehicles. The ones showing only parking lights loomed up, most times as dark shapes before the lights could be seen, but the cars with headlights blazing could be identified long before the vehicles themselves became visible."

Impaired visibility caused by insufficient light or unfavorable atmospheric conditions, added to the windows and windshields obscured by snow, sleet, fog or rain, produce a deadly combination in moving traffic. The more identification a car can have at such times, the better chance the driver has of avoiding a crash."

Ira G. Needles of Kitchener, Ont., chairman of the Council, stated

"Many of us who have driven cars for years remember when batteries could be run down easily and we formed the habit of not using bright lights lest we drain the battery. In modern cars, generator and battery capacities are so far ahead of the demands made on them by the vehicle's electrical system there is no economy in using parking lights for driving. In fact, doing so could result in the driver being charged with infraction of the law. The old economy should be discarded in the interest of visibility and increased protection."

It wouldn't be practical for Imperial to divide its income dollar the way the people in our picture are doing. A more exact division is required, as you can see from the figures below.

Here's how Imperial's income dollar is divided

Last year, out of every dollar Imperial took in:
55 cents was spent for raw materials—mostly crude oil—and for freight, a big item in a big country like Canada.
25 cents went for costs of operating the company. This included wages and salaries for our 15,000 employees.
9 cents was for depreciation, money set aside to help pay for replacing worn-out equipment.

5 cents went to various taxes (not including provincial road taxes ranging from 10 to 18½ cents per gallon).
6 cents was left. But two of these had to be set aside for equipment to make new products and for expansion of things like refineries and service stations to meet the public needs.
4 cents was left for the shareholders—whose investment made the company possible.

Former Local Couple Married in Calgary

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. George's Chapel at Currie Barracks, Calgary, at 11 a.m. on Monday, April 18th, when Miss Peggy Buttle, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Buttle became the bride of Rifleman Kenneth Arthur Noble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Noble of Glusum, B. C., and formerly of Bellevue.

The double ring ceremony was conducted by Padre Roy F. Webb and "The Lord's Prayer" and another hymn were sung by Sergeant Scott.

For her wedding the bride wore a three-quarter length gown of brocade satin and a coronet of pearls from which flowed a chapel length veil of nylon net interspersed with seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty red roses.

She was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Roy Hegdon of Edmonton, due to her father being a patient in the Crows Nest Pass Hospital.

Attending the bride was her sister Mary, who wore a three-quarter length gown of white organza. She carried a bouquet of white carnations. Best man for the occasion was the groom's brother, Richard.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was enjoyed by some fifteen close friends and relatives, among whom were Mrs. J. Buttle of Blairmore, and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Noble of Glusum, B. C.

The newlyweds will take up residence in Calgary where the groom is serving as a rifleman with the Queen's Own Rifles.

Warns Red Cross Finances Shaky

A warning not on the shaky financial foundation of the Canadian Red Cross Society and a charge of "Too much complacency" about the Red Cross financial campaign were voiced by Mr. Marshal Stearns of Toronto, Chairman of the Red Cross Central Council, during the annual meeting of the Alberta Red Cross held in Edmonton February 25 and 26.

In a forthright address to the meeting Mr. Stearns declared "If we do not increase our campaign returns substantially above our experience in the last few years, we will truly be in serious trouble". He noted that since 1953 Red Cross has failed to achieve its financial objective in the yearly campaign for funds with returns for 1959 totalling $5,733,481 while budget requirements for the year were $6,222,127. As a result of this deficit the Society's contingency fund has been reduced to $383,000 yet it should never be allowed to fall below $1,000,000.

Mr. Stearns charged that campaign methods used in many centres were out-moded also that many campaign chairmen unable to produce results were not removed while others were given too much of a load to carry. He reminded the meeting that an average of 37 cents from each person in Canada would achieve the campaign objective and urged members to keep the public constantly informed on Red Cross activity.

"We cannot afford to miss our objective one more year. Too many are depending on us. Too many deserving people need help. I think if people know our needs they will respond," he concluded.

Campaign Reaches 65 Per Cent Of Objective

Contributions to the 1960 Alberta Red Cross campaign for funds now total $346,591, which is 65.15 per cent of the provincial objective of $532,700.

Returns to the same period last year totalled $366,834 representing 71.8 per cent of the 1959 allocation of $510,500.

Returns from southern Alberta in the current campaign amount to $176,874 which includes returns of $143,779 from United Appeals in the Fall of 1959 and receipts of $33,095 in the March campaign still under way. Northern Alberta returns in the current campaign total $163,717 representing $1520 from the United Appeals and contributions of $162,197 from the March campaign.

Roomy 1½-Storey Design Makes Good House For Large Family

This 1½-storey house should appeal particularly to larger families. Designed by architect Henry Flies, of Toronto, it provides four bedrooms and good living-dining space.

The combination living and dining room is a well-lighted, cheerful room with access to the back garden. In addition to the bedrooms on the ground floor, the architect has also made provision for two others upstairs with good closet space and a storage area under the roof. A convenient bathroom is included in the second floor layout. The basement is so planned that there is room for a good size laundry and a large playroom running beneath the living-dining and kitchen area.

The total floor area is 1,409 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 12 feet, six inches by 26 feet, 10 inches. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 406, are available from Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

U. S. Jr. Chamber Makes Alcoholism National Project

The U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce has adopted as a national project an educational program designed to promote awareness, knowledge and understanding of alcoholism among the American public.

In a publication printed for the Jaycees by Eli Lilly and Company, and just received by the Alcoholism Foundation of Alberta, the program and the Jaycees' approach to it are described as follows:

"The committee's belief and philosophy are that it can do a service to its community by informing the public of the facts on alcoholism. Its definite belief is that: Alcoholism is a disease, a departure from health which interferes with the well-being of the individual and calls for treatment.

"With proper understanding of the symptoms, and the knowledge that alcoholism is a progressive illness and not simply a moral lapse, the problem may be alleviated.

"It is important that the program, by-pass emotional, political and other attitudes that might obscure the facts. Therefore, in approaching members and the public about alcoholism as a disease, the Jaycees do not take sides in the wet-dry controversy. Their concern is with alcoholism as a treatable disease."

J. George Strachan, executive director of the Alcoholism Foundation of Alberta, commenting on the action of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, said "The Junior Chamber is to be commended for its enterprise in tackling the problem of alcoholism on a national basis, and for its realistic approach to a public health problem which U. S. industry describes as 'The two-billion dollar headache'."

Letter to the Editor

Ottawa, Canada,
April 4, 1960.

Mr. Jim Montalbetti,
President,
Crows Nest Pass Regional Progressive Conservative
Association,
Coleman, Alberta.
Re: Summary Statement on Coal
Shipments to Japan

Dear Jim:

1.—Action in Parliament — The House of Commons at Ottawa passed the additional amount required in the Supplementary Estimates — $556,402 — to take care of coal shipments to Japan up to March 31, 1960. The Progressive Conservative Members all supported the measure. There was some opposition—One Liberal Member from the East argued that the $4.50 per ton subvention reduced the price of coal to the Japanese by this amount. His contention was that we are directly subsidizing Japanese exports to Canada, and that there is some concern in parts of the country about the extent of these exports in some fields. This opposition to the measure did not change the opinion of the House of Commons, and the supplementary vote passed without any difficulty.

2.—Quantity of Coal Shipped and Subvention — Coal shipments to Japan from Alberta and British Columbia since the start of the program are shown in the following table:

Year	Tons	Subvtn. Fed. Govt.
1957	40,560	$ 87,004
1958	21,533	68,882
1959	192,857	845,895
to Mar. 31 '60	130,000	556,402
TOTAL	384,950	$1,558,283

This program to ship coal to Japan was started after the June election of 1957, when the Progressive Conservative government came into power. The first order-in-council starting shipments was passed in July of 1957. In 1958, Mayor Frank Abousafy of Coleman, Alberta, and leaders of the United Mine Workers of America, came to Ottawa and gave evidence before the committee on Mines, Forests and Water. Mr. Dave Young, also of Coleman, gave evidence in 1959 before the same committee. All of these efforts were very helpful.

The various coal missions to Japan, and representatives of coal companies have provided direct contact which was so essential for success. Total tonnage shipped from Alberta and British Columbia up to March 31, 1960, was 384,950 tons, and the total subvention has amounted to about $1,558,283.

3.—Outlook for Coal Shipments to Japan — During the next 12 months the outlook is still better. The Japanese have entered into contracts with Canadian coal companies to purchase about one-half million tons of coal, of which about 200,000 short tons will be from the Alberta side of the Crows Nest Pass.

4.—Bulk Loading Facilities at Vancouver — The newly constructed bulk loading facilities at Vancouver came into operation on the 21st of March, 1960. These facilities were built with private capital, with the sympathetic backing of the National Harbor Board. The total cost was in the neighborhood of $15 million. These docks will accommodate the bulk loading of not only coal but sulphur, metallic concentrates from Trail and other mines, and potash fertilizer. It will not be necessary to make any further coal shipments through the United States ports of Portland and Seattle as was necessary before the Vancouver docks were completed.

5.—The Present Program is on Trial—It is not expected that the present subsidy of $4.50 per ton may always have to be paid, but it was thought to be a good investment in the meantime in the hope of opening up a new market, and thus provide employment and keep our coal mining industry going. Eventually, the program may be able to stand on its own feet. There are three possibilities for the reduction of the subvention:

- (1)—We hope to convince the Japanese that the Crows Nest Pass coal is superior and therefore worth more per ton.
- (2)—We hope the Vancouver Terminal, with one or two years' experience, will be able to reduce the rates of handling.
- (3)—We hope to convince the Canadian Pacific Railway that the movement of over one-half million tons of coal warrants the provision of a special export rate.

The success of this program of shipping coal to Japan requires the continued co-operation of the coal companies and mine workers, and in fact, all people concerned who have worked so hard to accomplish the results so far achieved. Your government at Ottawa is anxious to see this trial project put on a firm and continuing basis.

Copies of this letter have been made available to others so that all may be informed.

Yours sincerely,

Lawrence E. Kindt, M.P.,
Federal Constituency of Macleod.

5½ Million Motorists Drove Safely In 1959

"Success should be its own reward" is a slogan that could be aimed at the 5,500,000 motorists in Canada who, in 1959, had neither accident nor brush with the law in traffic.

Slight recognition is given these drivers who, through their own efforts or good fortune, escaped mishap or police action. Organizations and individuals devoted to reducing the number of accidents on the nation's streets and roads must give almost their entire attention to drivers who were involved in accidents or were guilty of infractions of traffic regulations. There were some half a million of them in Canada last year.

The highways' good drivers went through the year with little recognition. Some communities honored them during safety campaigns by naming "Mr. Safe Driver", giving medals or shopping orders on local stores and interviews on radio or television. But the great majority of the five and a half million accident-free and infraction-free motorists smiled along their honorable way, unsung and unglorified.

Their reward was great.

It included freedom from the high cost of repairs, litigation, medical and hospital bills, pain, suffering and anguish. They had the uncomfortable security of watching their half million colleagues of the pavement writhing in the bitter fruits of the consequences of disaster—whether it lasted 30 seconds or a lifetime.

Drivers of commercial vehicles, whether they be trucks, buses or taxi-cabs, are honored by their employers and organizations if they pile up handsome records of safety at the wheel. Communities with outstanding records of road safety are cited each year by the Canadian Highway Safety Council. But the man who drives his private car through the menacing maze of modern motorized machinery went on his way with nothing much in the way of thanks. In fact, often he was the target of abuse from the motorist who tried to sneak around the laws of man or nature and found his way successfully blocked by the driver who was doing what he knew he should do.

So the Canadian Highway Safety Council, joined, it is certain, by provincial, community, industrial and government safety officials, expresses appreciation to the safe driver for his care, consideration and attention. He saved his country countless millions of dollars, and his fellow Canadians many hours of suffering.
